The Oxford Belfry Hotel, Nr. Thame, Oxfordshire

The Oxford Belfry sits just south of Oxford, near the picturesque market town of Thame, amidst 17 glorious acres of countryside. The original building dates to the 19th century and the newer hotel buildings have been designed around two courtyards with a fabulous conservatory and terraces.

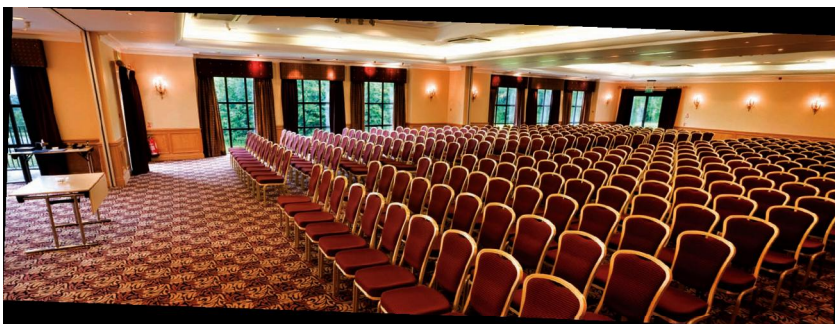

The Oxford Belfry Hotel is only a minute from the M40. The hotel has spacious and well-appointed bedrooms; a gym; spa warmed indoor swimming pool, scented sauna, aroma steam room; satellite television; high speed internet access, tea and coffee making facilities and 24-hour room service.

As well as a superb leisure centre, the hotel has two tennis courts and a croquet lawn, and a wonderful restaurant and bar.

You can treat yourself with a well deserved visit to the hotel spa, chill out in the steam room or indulge in some pampering at the experienced hands of the holistic therapists.

The hotel has seventeen very well equipped conference and meeting rooms ranging from a room for ten people up to the College Suite which can accommodate a capacity for 450 people in a theatre style.
